

eMed and other Online Learning Resources Information for Staff

eMed - <http://emed.med.unsw.edu.au>

eMed is a web-based curriculum management system developed by the Faculty for staff and students in the undergraduate Medicine Program (MED3802/3841). It includes an online curriculum map, a timetable, various assessment related tools, and some administrative tools.

To log into eMed (use Unipass) go to the above URL and follow the instructions on the screen. Full-time, part-time and conjoint staff members automatically get “reader” access to eMed Map, but casual/sessional and contract staff must request access. Access to other eMed systems will depend on your role in the undergraduate program.

Further information on eMed can be found at:

- About eMed at <http://med.unsw.edu.au/medweb.nsf/page/About+eMed>
- Introduction to eMed online tutorial for students at <http://web.med.unsw.edu.au/Emed/Start.htm>
- eMed Help site for staff at <http://emed.med.unsw.edu.au/eMedHELP.NSF> or click the “Help” button within the eMed system (login required)

Blackboard and the UNSW TELT Gateway - <http://telt.unsw.edu.au/>

The UNSW TELT Gateway brings together the suite of technologies and applications that support learning and teaching at UNSW such as Blackboard, Lectopia, Media Services, Plagiarism detection and Assessment tools etc. It provides the central access point for all the applications currently available on the platform with login links or instructions on how to sign up for each service. Training resources and support information to help users are also linked to this Gateway.

Blackboard is a learning management system currently used at UNSW.

The undergraduate Medicine course modules in Blackboard integrate with eMed Map to provide additional learning resources and discussion groups for each course, including a private discussion area for teachers. You may find these systems useful to familiarise yourself with the course content of the UMP and with your own teaching activities within the course.

To log into Blackboard (use zpass) go to the TELT Gateway site at the above URL, choose the Learning Management systems section and follow the instructions on the screen to login in to UNSW Blackboard.

Staff access to Blackboard is course-specific and available only on request if you are not involved in teaching in the course.

- For access to undergraduate Medicine courses, contact the eMed Map/TELT Support Staff on (02) 9385-8795, or email Suzanne Mobbs (s.mobbs@unsw.edu.au) or Kerrie Arnhold (kerriea@unsw.edu.au).
- For access to Blackboard courses in SOMS, SPHCM or SWCH, contact the school's TELT Administrator.

UNSW Library Resources

IT Services and information

Information about IT Services at UNSW is available at http://www.it.unsw.edu.au/services/services_home.html - see links to Services for Staff and to Access Forms.

Unipass vs zpass?

There are a number of different password systems at the moment which can be confusing. Clarification of the password systems is at: <http://www.it.unsw.edu.au/staff/>

Unipass

To access some online services you will need a current UNSW Staff ID Number (log in name) and a UniPass (private password). You can obtain your UniPass over the phone by contacting the UNSW IT Service Desk on (02) 9385-1333, and answering some identity-verification questions. For further Unipass information, see <https://www.it.unsw.edu.au/staff/unipass/index.html>

zpass

To access Blackboard and UNSW computer labs you will need to use a zpass instead of the Unipass, details on setting up a zpass are at: http://www.it.unsw.edu.au/staff/zpass/create_zpass.html
